

Business owners and employees across the state should know House Democrats today voted to increase taxes on employment; any economist will tell you that's about the worst thing you can do in a recession. I'm working as hard as I can to create jobs in Mississippi, and increasing taxes on job creation makes it harder to create more jobs.

I urge the State Senate to reject the House Democrat position because it would require a $16 million a year tax increase on Mississippi employers. It would mean fewer jobs for our working people.
